

Emily Mae-Yen Ross

ASSOCIATE

EDUCATION

Northwestern
Pritzker School of Law
J.D. 2021

Harvey Mudd College
Engineering
B.S. (with distinction) 2014

INDUSTRIES

Electrical Engineering
Nanotechnology
Semiconductors
Software & Internet

PRACTICES

IP Litigation & Enforcement
Patent

BAR ADMISSIONS

California
United States Patent and Trademark Office

COURT ADMISSIONS

U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California

BACKGROUND

Emily focuses her practice on IP litigation and enforcement, as well as patent prosecution, in a variety of technology areas. Emily received her J.D. from Northwestern Pritzker School of Law in 2021, where she was heavily involved with the IP community and secured asylum for four children through the Bluhm Legal Clinic's Children and Family Justice Center. She received a B.S. (with distinction) in Engineering from Harvey Mudd College in 2014.

EXPERIENCE

Emily's experience spans a broad range of technology areas, with a focus in software and hardware. Her litigation practice is informed by her patent prosecution experience, and vice versa. Emily has experience in all stages of litigation and is a budding trial attorney, having directly examined a witness at trial and taken intensive Trial Advocacy and Deposition Skills courses with the National Institute of Trial Advocacy. In her prosecution practice, she has significant experience drafting, prosecuting, and appealing patent applications for clients ranging from small startups to Fortune 100 companies.

AFFILIATIONS

Emily is admitted to the California State Bar. She is registered to practice before the United States Patent & Trademark Office and admitted to practice in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California. Emily is a member of the Asian Pacific American Bar Association of Silicon Valley (APABA-SV), the National Asian Pacific American Bar Association (NAPABA), the Washington State Patent Law Association (WSPLA), and the Washington Technology Industry Association (WTIA).